« ? » The writer is surprised and distressed by what he has been told about the abolitionist society here «in London?» He believed that there had been a reconciliation of which he had considered the invitation to the last conference extended to him as a proof. Did not know how Mrs. Chapman stood in regard to them «the opponents of her side?», for, when he complained of the impoliteness of Mrs. «Harriet Beecher?» Stowe, she had not answered a word. Also does not know what happened at the Conference. He was ill at the time, drove to the meeting, read his paper, and returned immediately to lie on his couch. Wishes the editors [illegible]e Advocate had sent him the number in which they discus[illegible] matter of which she disapproves. Desires to have the paper and is even willing to pay a subscription. He is prepared to write to Mr. Destrone, even to arrange that he call on her. The writer is sure that he, like everyone else, will be charmed. In his speech at the Conference, he highly praised the American abolitionists; this was much applauded. Will send her the speech, if the society does not have it printed. Why has he not been kept informed of these dissensions? He would not have gone if he had believed that the affair might turn against Garrison and against her party. Seeks her opinion on his English pamphlet. A.L.S. 4 p. 4 3/4 x 3 7/8 [illegible]

«Bridgewater, (England)» The writer tells why he attended a recent London Anti-Slavery conference. The English Garrisonians had criticised him for not going to an earlier conference The "Bristol ladies" asked the British & Foreign Anti-Slavery Society whether women delegates were to be admitted. "James Haughton wrote a long letter to the conference expressing sympathy with its objects." Learned at the conference that "the Enemy had Geo. Thompson fast in their fangs ..." and that no help was to be given to the American Abolitionists.

«Dublin, (Ireland)» "Enclosed you have all the passages referring to Douglass in the way of warning or comment on his character that I have been able to find in your letters." Has arranged the addressee's letters in order. The writer formed the opinion, soon after meeting Douglass, that he was "a self seeker and grossly ungrateful ..." Discusses the possibility that he may have read to Douglass part of a letter from the addressee. The writer's efforts to help D. were resented angrily. Says he reads letters written to the Estlins and they read his mail from the U.S. Abolitionists. Likes Pillsbury. S. May thought Pillsbury should travel on the Continent, while Garrison and Wright wanted him to lecture in England.

.Dublin, (Ireland). The writer went from Liverpool to Dublin. Couldn't find anybody in Liverpool who knew anything about Anti-Slavery affairs, nor could he find the people to whom his letters of introduction were addressed except one Brown, who knew nothing of F. Douglass's changed status("Fallen Angel"). Wanted to visit R. D. Webb. Met Samuel R. Ward in Liverpool, who didn't seem very glad to see him. Criticises Ward's speech for its bias in favor of F. Douglass. Wants to travel about quietly in England without lecturing except to small audiences. Wants the addressee to thank C. F. Hovey for his kind letter.

‹Boston› The writer sends a receipt for the box of reports. Says the Senate passed the Nebraska Bill. The course of lectures at the New York Broadway Tabernacle was concluded by a lecture by Ralph Waldo Emerson. They have been very successful, owing chiefly to the work of Oliver Johnson. A course of lectures is being given in Boston, the first speaker being Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Suggests letters by Anne Warren Weston for the Anti-Slavery Advocate. Sends a dozen copies of the Hertford Bible Conventions Discussion.

꜀Boston꜃ The writer was surprized to hear that Parker Pillsbury had said that the National Anti-Slavery Standard was "but little read here(i.e. in the U.S.)". Garrison and Wendell Phillips disagreed with Pillsbury. The writer thinks that he made a mistake. Says the Standard has a small intelligent audience. It differs from the Liberator. Oliver Johnson organized the New York A-S Society and arranged for a very successful course of 13 lectures on Slavery. The Standard is an "authoritative, able and regular exponent of the faith and works of the American Abolitionists,..." It is not dependent on English patronage. The writer is worried about Pillsbury's illness.

[Boston] This letter is a continuation of the writer's letter of Mar.30,1854 to Richard Davis Webb. The writer says Edmund Quincy estimates ten readers for every copy of the National Anti-Slavery Standard. Quincy also remarked on the influence of the Standard on the newspapers of the country, with many of whom it exchanges issues. The writer decides against giving William P. Powell of Liverpool the work of distributing the pamphlets in the annual box of reports. Says that Stephen and Abby K. Foster agree with him about the Standard. Discusses the Nebraska Bill.

To Richard Davis Webb No.21

«Boston» The writer regrets that he will not see Miss Shackleton owing to his departure for the country. Gives a detailed account of certain financial transactions. Asks how the A-S Fair money could be better spent. It could be given to the New York Evening Post, but the Post backed Franklin Pierce, a pro-Slavery candidate. Objects to the New York Tribune because it backed Zachary Taylor and Winfield Scott. Lists as possible donees the Liberty party, the Free Democratic party, and lecturers. Names objections to all of them. Says the Liberator is not exclusively an Anti-Slavery paper.

To Rev. Samuel May Jr.

.Bridgewater, England. The writer thanks Rev. May for the papers and pamphlets recently received from him. Complains about the speeches of Joseph Barker and George Sauter at the Decade meeting. The writer was greatly pleased with Parker Pillsbury. Asks what the U.S. plans to do about Cuba. Refers to the Black Warrior case. Condemns Richard Cobden. Says that a Hungarian friend is going to try to get help for the Abolition cause in Hungary. Asks about Mr. Allen of Bangor, Maine, a follower of Frederick Douglass. Doubts the zeal of Mr. Chameroozow for the Abolition cause, although Mr. C. informed the writer he was t[illegible] to get Parker Pillsbury as a speaker at the Anniversary [illegible]ing of the British & Foreign A-S Society.

Essex St., (Boston). The writer mentions a great fire at Wolf's Crag. Learned about the arrest of Anthony Burns from Mrs. Wendell Phillips. Tells about the plans for a rescue. Mentions an eclipse of the sun. "Phebe Garnault was smoking glass & watching the sun ... Wentworth Higginson and a number of men had come from Worcester." Mentions the meetings of the Vigilance Committee. George Russell presided at the Faneuil Hall meeting. "Bird of Walpole, Swift, a young Free Soiler, Wendell & Parker spoke ..." Higginson led an attack on the Courthouse. Praises W. Phillips. The writer "talked about non-resistance" to Mary Ro[illegible], Mrs. Phillips and others. Warren Weston arrived. Wr[illegible] describes the state of his health. Sent messages to the churches asking for prayers for

Anthony Burns. Names the ministers who complied with the writer's request. Jonas Perkins was among them. "Young Stiles held a tipping seance, but the oracles were rather misty." The writer went to town with W. Weston. It was rumored that the Boston merchants would buy Burns. Newport, R.I. and Portsmouth sent troops. Went to town on the 30th of May and found much excitement. "Everybody standing at their shop doors up & down Washington St., groups of people walking on the side walk ..." "... all hell seemed broke loose." A friend "scolded non-resistance & said she had fallen back on her brute instincts." The truckmen th[illegible]ned to mob Mr. & Mrs. Phillips. Theodore Parker tried to [illegible]s. Phillips's house. The writer tells about the witnesses at the trial. "Then came the hope that Loring would declare him «Burns» free accompanied by the fear & belief that Hallett would arrest him again and take him before his son, who is a commissioner, & hurry him off at once." Writer tells how news of courthouse activities was circulated. A Free Soil and a New England convention were in progress at the time. Disapproved of the N. E. convention wasting its time discussing Non-Resistance. The writer and Deborah went to hear John P. Hale speak at the Free Soil convention. Thinks Mrs. H. B. should have "shown her fac [illegible] people in Boston." W. Phillips "is having greatness thrus [illegible] on him, & the time will come ... for him to be Gov. of Mass." To Richard Davis Webb

[Boston] The writer was surprized to hear that Parker Pillsbury had said that the National Anti-Slavery Standard was "but little read here(i.e. in the U.S.)". Garrison and Wendell Phillips disagreed with Pillsbury. The writer thinks that he made a mistake. Says the Standard has a small intelligent audience. It differs from the Liberator. Oliver Johnson organized the New York A-S Society and arranged for a very successful course of 13 lectures on Slavery. The Standard is an "authoritative, able and regular exponent of the faith and works of the American Abolitionists,..." It is not dependent on English patronage. The writer is worried about Pillsbury's illness.

[Boston] This letter is a continuation of the writer's letter of Mar.30,1854 to Richard Davis Webb. The writer says Edmund Quincy estimates ten readers for every copy of the National Anti-Slavery Standard. Quincy also remarked on the influence of the Standard on the newspapers of the country, with many of whom it exchanges issues. The writer decides against giving William P. Powell of Liverpool the work of distributing the pamphlets in the annual box of reports. Says that Stephen and Abby K. Foster agree with him about the Standard. Discusses the Nebraska Bill.

To Caroline Weston

.Weymouth, (Mass.). The writer expresses her anger at "Loring & Co." and the others responsible for the arrest of Anthony Burns. Talks at length about the case. The wharfinger of T Wharf "gave permission to the slave catchers without consulting owners & was dismissed Friday night ..." The other wharfs were denied to the slavers. "The city of Providence has voted not to celebrate the 4th of July, but to toll the bells three times ..." Tells about E. Quincy's nephew. "I wish you could have seen Miss Stevenson keeping guard on the side walk (opposite the Courthouse) ... ... Anne was obliged to sit on a sofa in a pro-Slavery umbrella store ... Old Sam May's store was in mourning ..."

To "My dear friend"

«Liverpool, (England)» The writer tells of his school days, when he met the niece of James White, his teacher. He later married her, and became acquainted with his wife's aunts, Betsy and Mary Shackleton. Was a part of the literary circle surrounding Mrs. Mary Leadbeater. Praises the wit of Mary, the only surviving daughter of Mrs. L. "I came over yesterday to see P. Pillsbury (greatly improved) and to lay eyes upon Charles Hovey whom I greatly like ... I go today with P. P. to Ambleside to spend a day or two with H. Martineau ..." A.L.S. 4 p. 7 1/8 x 4 1/2 in.

To Rev. Samuel May Jr.

<Bridgewater, England> The writer sympathizes with Rev. May about the Burns case. "Now tell me honestly what hope can we Englishmen have from America for a long, long while to come?" Says the Bostonians should have prevented the rendition of Burns, the fugitive slave. Asks if further effort on the part of his A-S Society would do any good. Also whether the New York Inquirer is right in saying that certain Southern senators wanted to extend the conditions of the Fugitive Slave Law to Canada. The writer was unable to get his representative in Parl[illegible]t to bring up the Glasser case.

To Messers Phillips, Sampson and Co.

[Worcester, Mass.] Has so far advanced his work on his book, Kansas and Nebraska, that he can describe it in detail. Has yet to arrange for a lithograph to be made of the map. Has obtained the sanction of the Emigrant Aid Society, and has had the use of their letters and documents. The Society is establishing branches in all the states of the North, and the prospect of sales is good. Also notes that the first company of emigrants is shortly to set out, and so he hopes to publish his book by the fifteenth of the month. A.L.S. 3p. 10 x 7 3/4 in.

‹Boston› The writer discusses some financial transactions. Says he cannot increase the subscription list of the Anti-Slavery Advocate in America, because the burden of supporting the other A-S papers is as much as Abolitionists can bear. Comments on the new form of the Standard. Further discussion of financial details. Wants Parker Pillsbury to organize the Glasgow and Edinburgh Abolitionists. Mentions celebrations on Aug.1 at Abington Grove in Plymouth County, Hopedale in Worcester County, and Flushing, N.Y. The writer ends by discussing the international situation.

To "Dear Miss Weston"

[Leicester, (Mass.)] The writer says that the addressee should read some letters sent with the Bazaar Box from Bristol. Most of them were written to Mary A. Estlin. "I suspect the Estlins have been disappointed not a little in Chamerovzow ... Chesson I believe to be a true man." The writer is concerned over the absences of S. H. Gay from his office caused by the illnesses of his children.

To Mary A. Estlin

«Town Hall, Manchester, (England)» The writer discusses an Anti-Slavery meeting in Manchester. Gives the names of the presiding officers; Rev. Walter Scott and Rev. W. Parkes. Says that Dr. Beard is speaking. He mentions L. Kossuth's unfaithfulness to the Anti-Slavery cause and read a letter from Mazzini. The writer praises P. Pillsbury's attack on the American churches. At the end of the speech, Joseph Parker demanded the right to speak and S. R. Ward threatened to leave the meeting. The writer criticises Barker's actions. Reports on speeches by W. W. Brown and G. Thompson.

To Caroline Weston

«Dublin, (Ireland)» The writer says that L. A. Chamerovzow is going to Paris with a letter of introduction to the addressee or Mrs. M. W. Chapman. The Anti-Slavery Reporter, edited by L.A.C., "had a long report of a meeting with Garrison's & Phillips's speeches ..." Hopes that the addressee and Mrs. Chapman will be nice to L.A.C. Says that his son, Alfred, is "fully employed on road contracts" in Australia. Had a letter from Mary A. Estlin. "Her father still in a low way,-they have removed to airier and cooler lodgings." Wants the name of a newly-invented barometer.

.Bridgewater, England. The writer remarks on a letter in the Liberator(No.1052) which blamed Parker Pillsbury for not attacking the oppression of the English people by their government. Says that there is little reason for complaint. Compares English and American ideas of freedom. Says many noblemen favor Abolition. Remarks on a letter in the New York Times from the Hon. Henry A. Wise which defended Slavery as a divine institution. Comments caustically on the editor's opinion that "there may be reasons why some races of men should pass through a state of bondage." Praises the revised form of the National Anti-[illegible]ry Standard.

To Rev. Samuel May Jr.

«Belfast, Ireland» The writer says he spoke in Rev. Crosskey's Unitarian chapel. Wants Rev. May to write to Rev. Crosskey. Mentions Professor John Pringle Nichol as an enthusiastic Abolitionist and admirer of Theodore Parker. Professor Nichol said Louis Kossuth was more friendly to Abolition than was commonly supposed. Remarks on the number of alleged American Abolitionists collecting money for Canadian charities for negroes. Discusses his personal finances. Spent September in Scotland. Joseph Barker was "gagged" at the Manchester meeting. Dislikes L. A. Chamerozow. Quotes from a letter by him. C. i[illegible]ying to unite the British & Foreign A-S Society and the[illegible]ican Abolitionists.

«Weymouth, (Mass.)?» A manuscript draft. Owing to ill health the Secretary was unable to make out a full-length report, so she submitted only "a mere outline." The results of the Anti-Slavery fair are given, various lectures are listed, the sending of a petition against the Nebraska Bill is recorded and so are the subscriptions to the National Anti-Slavery Standard and the Liberator. Only two of the local churches permit Anti-Slavery preaching.

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

«Dublin, (Ireland)» Caroline Weston asked the writer to get a dictionary for "her new nephew." The writer bought the Imperial Dictionary published by Blackie of Glasgow. Says he has less time at his disposal since his partner left. Mary Estlin paid him a visit and thereby enjoyed a vacation from taking care of her father. Eliza Wigham and her sister were in town at the same time. The writer continues to get letters from his son, Alfred, who was working as "a road and drain contractor" in Australia. "My brother James has lost his eldest daughter ... About the same time his partner died ..." The writer's two daughters have left their school in London. Tells about acquiring the Imperial Dictionary. Discusses other dictionaries,-Didot's French dictionary and Johnson's and Richardson's dictionaries. "[illegible]r Pillsbury has been spending the last month or more at [illegible]ast, with the Neale family."

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

«Dublin, (Ireland)» The writer received a letter from S. May Jr. warning him against the coalition of the American and British Anti-Slavery forces proposed by L. A. Chamerovzow. The writer expects nothing from Chamerovzow and P. Pillsbury is suspicious of him. Says that Chamerovzow "has a love for manoeuvring which never does much good." Does not think the British & Foreign Anti-Slavery Society will merge with the American Abolitionists. "We are a mere handful and the British & Foreign are only Joseph Sturge, G. W. Alexander & Chamerovzow, who continue to profess to believe that good can really come out of Galilee." E. Quincy informed the writer that Anne W. Weston objected to an extract from a letter from the addressee which appeared in the Anti-Slavery Advocate. The writer

To Miss Mary A. Estlin

‹Camberwell, London, England› The writer encloses Parker Pillsbury's letter of Feb.23,1855. Appeals to Miss Estlin, George Thompson, and Frederick William Chesson for confirmation of his hospitable conduct toward Pillsbury. Wanted to remove the causes of the dissension between the English and American Abolitionists. Mentions an affair involving William Wells Brown. Says he had been unable to find Mr. Pillsbury, and had asked Thompson and Chesson for his address. Complains that Pillsbury had insulted him. Says he "is done with him forever."

«Camberwell New Road» The writer has been ill with a "severe nervous derangement." The printing of the conference proceedings has been delayed by the Xmas holidays. The writer is astonished that any doubt should be expressed "respecting George Thompson's speech on the motion of Mr. «Francis» Bishop ... Mr. Thompson did assuredly do full justice to the American Society ..." Thinks it would have been wiser if Mr. Bishop had abstained from presenting his motion. The printed resolution, which Mr. Bishop says he has, was private. The writer believes in following a course which will "allow old differences to heal themselves." [illegible] Pillsbury's "attack on delinquent American Friends was [illegible]n good taste." Slave Life in Georgia is out and should be circulated on account of the "interior view it gives of Slavery."

[Headingley, England] The writer says, "It was a great mistake that I ever came to this country... You cannot make me what you would have me." Says he wishes no further dealings with L. A. Chamerovzow. In a note Miss Estlin comments on the writer's unhealthy state of mind. Says that the writer claimed to know more about the British & Foreign Anti-Slavery Society than the Estlins. The Estlins discussed the Society with him at length. Miss Estlin explains how the correspondence came to be collected and sent to Rev. May.

[Leeds, England] The writer attacks Louis A. Chameroozow very vehemently. Comments on Chameroozow's letter to Mary Estlin. Says George Thompson's paper, The Empire, has turned out "a sad speculation." Frederick W. Chesson has left it. Thompson is in the Crimea. The writer says Wilson Armistead is tired of the British & Foreign A-S Society. Thompson is not very popular in England. The Anti-Slavery Advocate should be sustained. The British & Foreign A-S Society will no longer cooperate with the Garrisonian Abolitionists.

.Bridgewater, England. The writer expresses great pleasure at the opposition to Judge Edward Greely Loring. Discusses the predicament of those who vote under the Constitution while favoring Abolition of Slavery. Says he is inclined to be more lenient in judging George Thompson's conduct at the London Conference of the British & For. Anti-Slavery Soc'y. Thinks Rev. May overestimates the influence of this Society. Defends the New Broad Street Committee and L. A. Chameroozow. Advises keeping an agent in England. Says Parker Pillsbury has done a lot of good, but [illegible]ot fitted to be the English agent. Describes Chamerooz[illegible]ells of seeing the Estlins, Rev. William James and Rev. George Armstrong.
